Accenture software solution

2021- PRESENT

I have worked on multiple web projects. Initially, I focused on front-end development, but my curiosity and enthusiasm to learn led me to transition to a full-stack developer role.

Few projects I have been working on.

- Telecom Order manager
This app is developed for British telecommunication company, with it companies can design their new phones and order them.
- Trouble Ticket
It is designed for a multinational company to manage and resolve technical issues which were opened by customers.
